EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
MOHALI, APRIL 4

The Municipal Corporation (MC) will review the survey of the street vending committee which was conducted by a private company as some councillors have raised questions over it. The company will now take the area councillors with them in the new survey. Speaking to Chandigarh Newsline, MC Commissioner Rajesh Dhiman said they have asked the company to carry out the survey again and also urged the MCs to assist the company’s surveyors. He added that they have made the payment of 3 lakh to the company for the survey and rest of the payment will be done only after the completion of the survey. Some councillors raised questions over the survey and alleged that they were not consulted by the company and the survey was marred with anomalies. The councillors including Congress councillor Kuljeet Singh Bedi raised the issue in the house several times. The MC officials monitoring the survey said in the first report the company said there are 2,700 street vendors in the city, which was objected to by the councillors.
